

CAMUS Executive Governance Toolkit

Investment value depends not only on making the right investment decisions, but also on the time required to transform those decisions into effective executive execution.

Without a structured governance system, executive decisions, responsibilities and execution naturally become fragmented over time, increasing the hidden cost of fragmentation throughout the investment lifecycle.

Reducing the time between investment approval and executive mobilisation enables ownership to create value earlier while preserving strategic alignment from the outset.

What Makes Immediate Executive Capability Possible

The ability to activate Executive Representation rapidly does not depend on organisational size. It depends on the ability to assemble the right executive organisation and deploy an established governance system from the first day of the mandate.

CAMUS achieves this through two complementary executive capabilities.

Executive Organisation

CAMUS builds each Executive Representation Mandate around the specific objectives of the investment.

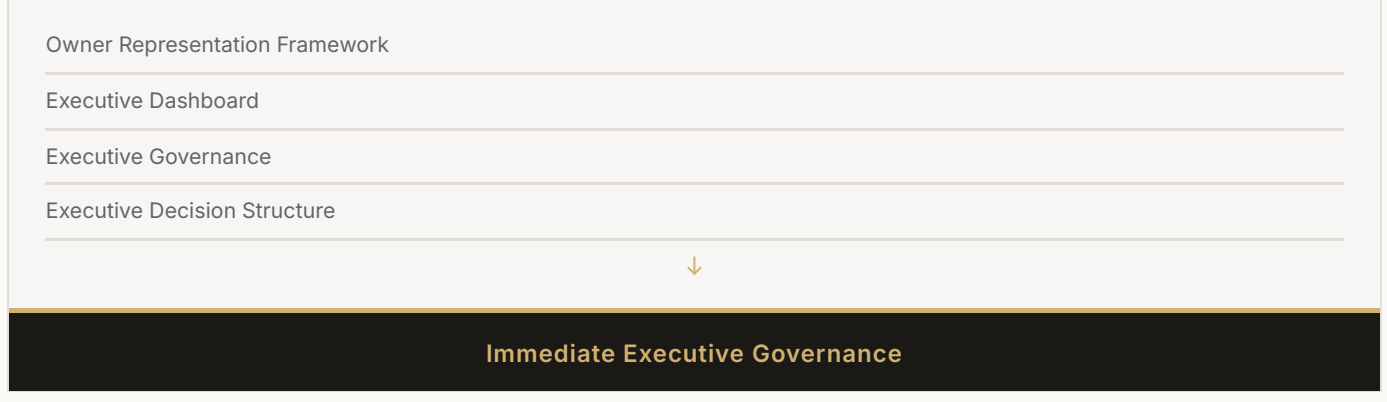

Drawing on an established knowledge of the local market, its stakeholders and specialist expertise, CAMUS rapidly structures the executive organisation required for each mandate.

Executive Governance System

Executive capability alone is not sufficient.

From the first day of the mandate, CAMUS deploys an established Executive Governance System that preserves ownership alignment, structures executive decisions and maintains executive visibility throughout the investment lifecycle.

Together

Executive Organisation and the Executive Governance System work together to transform investment decisions into effective executive execution.

Combined, they enable immediate executive mobilisation while preserving strategic alignment, supporting executive decisions and accelerating long-term value generation.

Owner Representation Framework

The Framework is designed to preserve strategic coherence by reducing fragmentation between ownership, governance and execution.

The Owner Representation Framework provides the executive governance structure through which ownership objectives are translated into executive execution.

Executive Governance in Practice

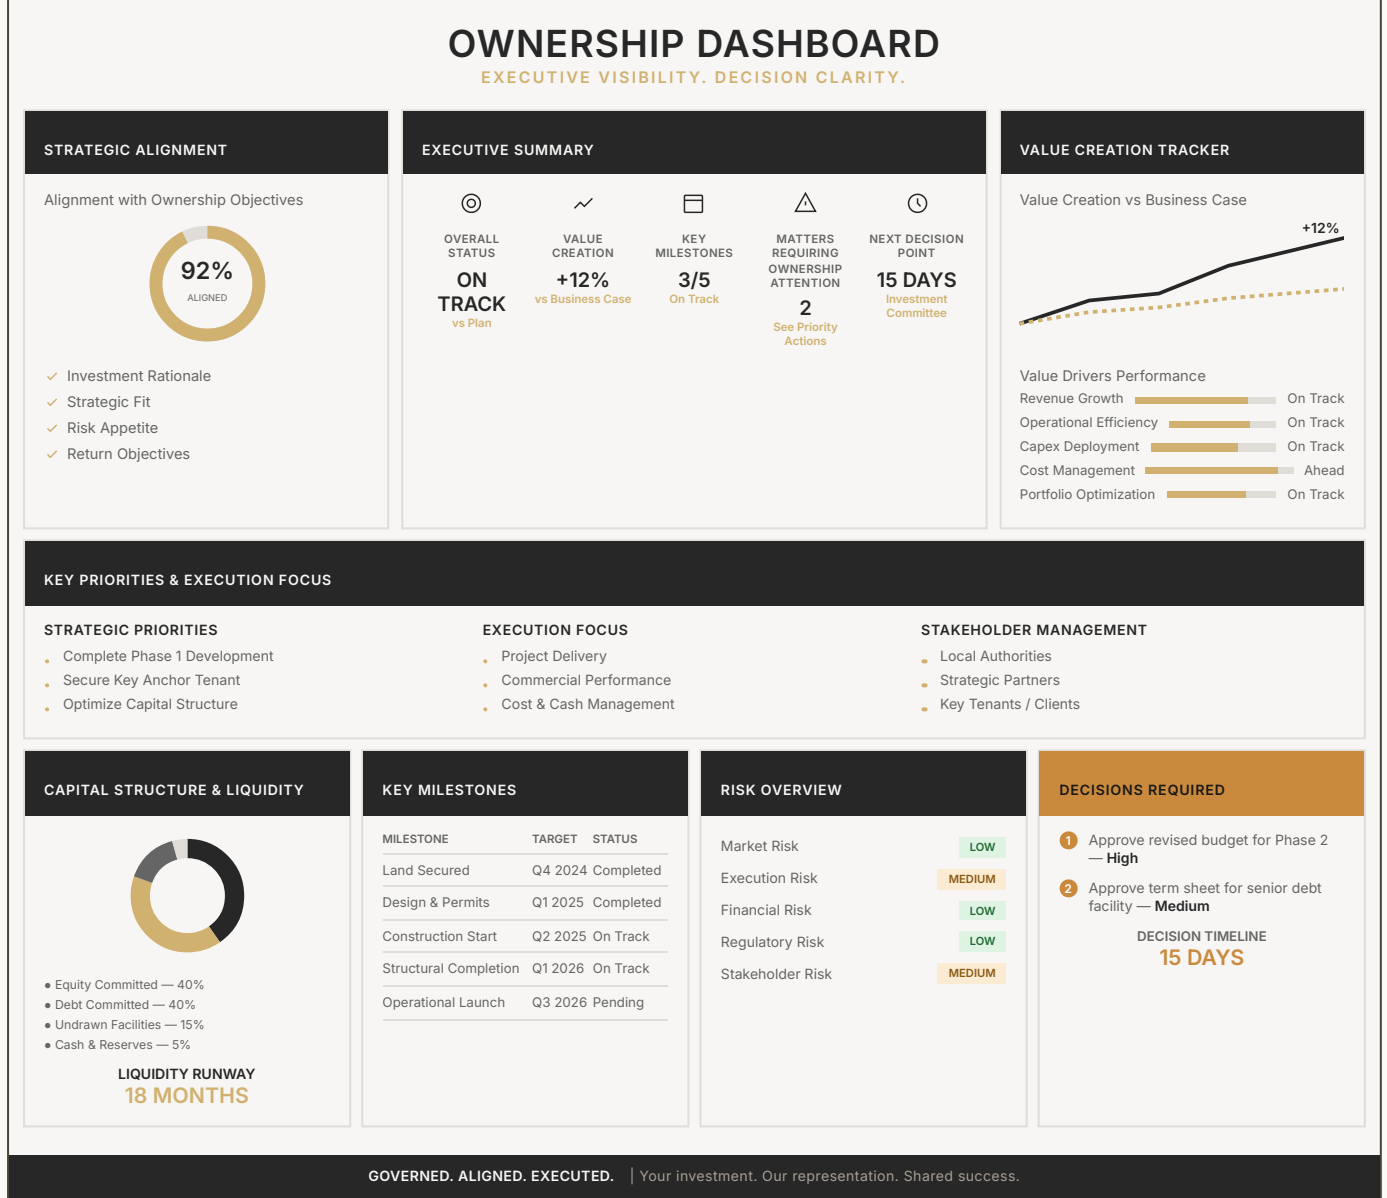

From the first day of the mandate, the Owner Representation Framework provides an established executive governance structure for the investment.

It defines executive responsibilities and decision pathways, ensuring executive execution remains continuously aligned with ownership objectives throughout the mandate.

Ownership Dashboard

Executive visibility is valuable because it allows ownership to identify strategic drift before it becomes value erosion.

The Ownership Dashboard provides ownership with clear executive visibility, enabling decision clarity throughout the mandate.

GOVERNED. ALIGNED. EXECUTED. | Your investment. Our representation. Shared success.

Executive Visibility in Practice

From the first day of the mandate, the Ownership Dashboard provides ownership with a clear and consistent executive view of the investment.

It highlights strategic progress, executive priorities and matters requiring ownership attention, ensuring decision clarity throughout the mandate.

How the System Work

Together, the Owner Representation Framework and the Ownership Dashboard create a complete Executive Governance System.

A Complete Executive Governance System

The CAMUS Owner Representation Framework and Executive Dashboard form a complete Executive Governance System that preserves the original investment thesis by maintaining strategic alignment, reducing fragmentation and protecting the investment's long-term value potential throughout execution.
